Organizational committee:

– Researcher of the Faculty of Philosophy, Taras Shevchenko National University of Kyiv, Ph.D. Vitali Turenko;

– Researcher, the Chairman of the Council of Young Scientists of Institute of Philosophy named after G.S.Skovoroda of NAS of Ukraine, Ph.D. Volodymyr Volkovsky;

– responsible secretary of the journal “Philosophical Thought”, co-founder of the educational platform “Plato's Cave” Ph.D. Ksenia Zborovska.

When constituting abstracts, it is recommended to avoid common phrases, to fully disclose the work essence and to outline its main results. The work must be carefully checked and edited. The abstract size should not exceed 2500 characters (with spaces). Placement of abstracts and tables in abstracts is not provided. When preparing abstracts, please carefully check the terms and quotations in Greek and Latin, and highlight them in italics. The quality of the published material is the responsibility of the author.

The organizing committee reserves the right to select materials for inclusion in the conference program and may reject the stated report without explanation.

Articles has be sent Ksenia Zborovsky to xenija.zborovska@gmail.com .

Please pay attention to the requirements for the preparation of articles!

Requirements for editing the articles:

— The Organizing Committee accepts materials in the form of electronic texts sent by e-mail to the editorial office (electronic document in MS Word-97-2000 format without positioning and hyphenation, font — Times New Roman, line spacing 1.5, size 14, except for character fonts in formulas).

— It is necessary to submit Ukrainian and English abstracts of the article, outlining the main methodological and methodical bases of the research, its results and conclusions (volume — about 1200 characters), as well as to indicate the discipline to which the article belongs, and to give keywords in Ukrainian and English.

— The full name, contact telephone and e-mail of the author, as well as information about his/her place of work (with full address), position, academic degree and field of research interests should be submitted on the accompanying page, which shall also indicate the full name of the author in Latin (according to available documents, such as a passport).

— Bibliographic information should be submitted at the end of the article in the form of a list of literature in alphabetical order (first, sources printed in Cyrillic, then — in Latin, the rest of foreign sources — in Latin transliteration). References to the sources should be given in brackets according to international standards (e.g.: [Burbaki, 1978: Vol. 1, p. 1]), and comments should be in page footnotes with sequential numbering.

— Quotations that have been translated by the author should be enclosed in the original language.

— If the article contains illustrative material (tables, graphs, charts, figures, etc.), each such material should be submitted with the appropriate electronic signature: tables, graphs and diagrams — in formats Excel, drawings — in Corel Draw or Adobe Illustrator formats (imported into Word illustrations are not suitable for future use).

— The Organizing Committee does not return the manuscripts and does not submit reviews. The examination of the editorial board is purely internal.

— The author has no right to submit the materials accepted and approved by the Organizing Committee to other editions.

— Articles signed by authors express their points of views, which may not coincide with the position of the Organizing Committee.

— The Editorial Board has the right to reduce articles and edit literary works.

— Submission of materials to the Organizing Committee requires the consent to be published in printed form and in electronic version in publications with which the Organizing Committee enters into relevant agreements.
